Path of Exile 2 Patch 0.4.0 The Last of the Druids is bringing one of the biggest progression shifts since PoE 2 launched. Along with the long-awaited Druid class, the update dramatically changes build paths, gearing speed, and endgame efficiency across the entire Fate of the Vaal League.

With Druid's ability to shift between Bear, Wolf, and Wyvern forms, build diversity has exploded overnight. Each form scales with different stats and requires very different gear setups, which means one thing becomes more important than ever:

PoE 2 Currency is now the true backbone of progression in Patch 0.4.0.

Since The Last of the Druids went live, many players are running into the same problem, not enough currency in early and mid game. Without enough PoE 2 currency, progression quickly slows down:

Map clear speed drops sharply

Gear stays outdated for too long

Crafting options become very limited

Hard to transition into mid-to-late game builds

Farming POE 2 currency manually can work, but it's also slow, repetitive, and extremely time-consuming, especially if you want to stay competitive in Fate of the Vaal League.

Once players reach mid-game, the gear gap widens fast. Those who secure upgrades early snowball into better maps, faster clears, and more consistent currency farming, while others struggle to keep up. That's why many players now choose to secure currency early, upgrade faster, and stay ahead of the curve instead of getting stuck in endless farming loops.
